Construction Of Artificial Ice Set For Summer By Trustees

New Rink Area To Be Unheated

An artificial ice rink has been given the "go-ahead" by the trustees and during the coming summer months will be constructed in the Field House end of Middlebury's World War II Memorial Field House and Gymnasium, it was announced this week by President Stratton.

At a recent meeting the trustees of the College voted to utilize an anonymous gifts of $50,000 and other money given to Middlebury for the purpose of building an artificial ice rink. Bids will now be asked for and construction will begin when one is accepted.

Economy Stressed

Middlebury will have a new ice rink, but President Stratton emphasized that its installation and maintenance depends on a strict program of economy.

The main purpose of the rink, according to Stratton, will be to provide a full program of recreational and intramural skating for the 1200 men and women comprising the student body of the college.

Student Skating

The Field House was constructed in 1949, and since that time the formation of ice has depended on strictly freezing weather conditions with the result that Middlebury has been unable to provide its students with a recreational skating program in accordance with the desires of college authorities.

Assemblies Name SEPC Members

Members of next year's Student Educational Policy Committee have been elected from the junior class by the Men's and Women's Assemblies.

The new members are Albert Gollnick and Carlene Snyder, natural sciences; David Bridges and Suzanne Heyer, humanities; John Weiger and Barbara Hammann, languages; and John Briggs and Helju Kivimae, social sciences.

Four men and four women were nominated by each division head of the College, and from this slate the eight were elected by the student groups. They will serve on the committee for the academic year 1954-55 and will choose a chairman from among themselves at a later date. Russell Briggs '54 has been this year's chairman.

The SEPC is the chief contact between the students and educational policies of the college. It directs the freshman orientation program, organizing the system of senior advisers.

It holds panel discussions during the year to debate educational problems. This year two such panels dealt with programs of advanced study and an honor system. The latter is still being discussed by the SEPC and may be a major concern of next year's committee.

The group meets weekly, occasionally in conjunction with the Faculty Educational Policy Committee.

135 Pints Needed For Blood Drive

A quota of 135 pints has been set for the blood drive to be held in McCullough Gymnasium on April 26 from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., it was announced by co-chairmen Jane Coffin '54 and Harold Higgins '55.

For this drive no appointments will be made. Donors are requested to come to the Burlington Bloodmobile, which will be stationed in the gym. Lunch will be served to workers and donors between 12:30 and 1 p.m.

Signed permissions from parents are required for those between 18 and 21, who have not previously given blood.

Trustees Vote Tuition Raise

Tuition will be raised $25 a semester beginning in September, 1954, it was voted by the trustees at the April 9 meeting, and announced by President Samuel Stratton.

The increase will affect all students now attending the College and future enrollees. Full scholarships and extra credit fees will be raised accordingly. Rising operating expenses, such as costs of salaries and maintenance necessitated the increase.

Previously the tuition was $650 a year. The fee, of course, will now be $700. The last tuition raise was in March, 1953, when an increase of $100 a year was approved. In April, 1952, the tuition had also been raised $100, an increase of $250 evident since that date. Both of these were accompanied by increases in college room and board rates.

A Final Ride

The merry-go-round goes round, but this week the present editors are taking their final ride. With the next issue, the brass rings pass into new hands. To meet the occasion, we would like to make our last attempt a brief survey of present conditions and future needs.

The most obvious and easiest place to begin is with the physical facilities. Construction since the war has developed rapidly with five new buildings added to the campus. Without slighting the importance of this program, the need still has not been entirely met. A playhouse, a library addition, a women's dormitory, and a class room building are now essentials. We predict that the first three will be in service before the present freshmen graduate. A new class room building will undoubtedly have to wait, depending largely on the success of the long range development fund recently approved by the Trustees.

Another tangible need which should be met immediately is the lack of personnel on the faculty and in the Administration. Each week we have gone into the offices in Old Chapel and have seen desks overloaded with work. The same is true for some members of the faculty, particularly those with extremely large survey classes and an excess of committee duty. A healthy balance between personnel and the work expected is necessary if the college wishes to function to the best of its ability.

Along with the need for more help is the desirability for more young men who could share the responsibilities and in return be given opportunity for advancement. The enthusiasm of youth should serve as a good balance to the caution which is so often in evidence now. Whether or not a thing has been done before is not necessarily the best criterion of an idea.

Concentrating for a moment on the faculty, we would like to encourage creative interests developed outside the class room. Whether it be composing, painting, writing or scientific experiment, it is a valuable sign of the cultural worth of any educational institution. In a final analysis, such efforts are as important as the academic schedule, to which they contribute so much.

Turning now to the student body, there is so much that has been started which should be continued and strengthened. To be singled out are the undergraduate assemblies. At present they are rather at sea, unsure exactly where their authority and limitations exist. Understandably, they are closely watched by members of the Administration, but perhaps they should receive a little more freedom. At least, left to function at their own will, they could flourish or die according to their own worth.

Of special interest, too, are those organizations which foster student expression and provide practical experience as well. From the Wig and Pen to the SEPC, these groups offer the reward of a step toward self-realization which should be one of the ultimate goals of our education.

Probably the greatest needs of the college at this time are co-operation and self-confidence. We would like to see more unity among the undergraduate body, the faculty, and in the Administration. Misunderstanding does exist and it is a shame because all three groups are working for the betterment of the college, not for selfish reasons, but because they believe in Middlebury. More trust and respect among the three groups involved should make the solution of problems easier.

Self-confidence should come from an appraisal of the college's future. As we have pointed out before, we feel there is terrific potential here. Its realization is not necessarily an impossible task, but provides a common goal toward which to work. Self-confidence abetted by enthusiasm could move Middlebury closer to the ideal we seek.

Before this ride is officially over, we would like to express our gratitude for the opportunity which was extended to us this year. Through the CAMPUS, we feel we have come to know the college and many of its members well. It seems true that the better one gets to know a thing, the more closely he becomes attached. With all sincerity, we wish to express our deepest appreciation to our staff and all those who have helped us throughout the year.

Original Musical Comedy To Be Feature Of Junior Weekend's "Continental Capers"

By Ann Boyer

Definite plans for Junior Weekend have been announced by Winslow Cobb '55 and Anne Stringer '55, co-chairmen and Theodore Sanders '55, publicity chairman for the Variety Show.

For the first time the weekend boasts a name, "Continental Capers," and a theme, cosmopolitanism.

In keeping with the international flavor is the setting of the Variety Show to be given Saturday night, May 1, at the Middlebury High School Gymnasium.

Original Plot

This year it is not a real variety show with disjointed skits but a complete musical comedy, "Just Around the Corner," with an original plot and score by Middlebury students. Sanders says the directors, Warren Fuller '55, and Ann Singleton '55, hope to have the work copyrighted. The book is a cooperative effort; the songs are by Fuller, Ellis Baker '55, and John Knecht '55.

The continuity is based on a plot concerning an American college student traveling in France. In a Parisian night club he becomes inebriated, marries one of the chorus girls, and forgets which one. His bride refuses to enlighten him. She reasons that if he married her, he should be able to recognize her. The remainder of the comedy concerns his attempts to discover her identity.

Another innovation in this year's show will be the use of leads with the cast of 28 and chorus of 20. These leads will be played by Robert Ringer '54, Charles Catlin '56, John Kettel '56, Alyce Kelly '57, and Shirley Whitney '57.

Sanders noted that the Albany correspondent for Variety magazine may cover the show. He emphasized the fact that proceeds are to go to the Variety Show Scholarship Fund.

The globe-trotting weekend will begin at 6 p.m. Thursday with a dinner, "Hawaiian Luau" in the east end of the Field House. Tickets for this, Miss Stringer announced, will sell for 75 cents until April 27. After that the price will rise to one dollar.

President Samuel Stratton will make an opening speech at 7 p.m. and will present the candidates for queen. Then James Kennedy '55, as master of ceremonies will supervise the fraternity competitive hulas.

The fraternities will start open houses at 9 p.m. which the queen candidates will visit accompanied by the judges.

Continuing the theme will be the Friday night Chinatown Dance beginning at 9 p.m. at which Lester Lanin will play and at which at 11 p.m. the Junior Weekend Queen will be crowned.

Tug Of War

But in the excitement of change and improvement by better organization, tradition has not been forgotten. Saturday afternoon the freshmen and sophomore men will have their tug-of-war somewhere on fraternity row. And the weekend will close with step-singing by the women's college at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Miss Stringer announced the following late permissions for women: Thursday, 11 p.m.; Friday, 2 a.m.; and Saturday, 1 a.m.

Letter

To The Editor:

You are to be congratulated on your editorial of March 4.

It is impossible to overemphasize the extent to which we as Americans, both collectively and individually, are suffering from the recent much-publicized antics of Senator McCarthy and his aides in the eyes of our overseas friends. To most thinking people a healthy albeit not fanatical, liberalism is a necessary element in any balanced society. Likewise, to most thinking people, a democratic government cannot allow the destruction of any of the rights of its citizens at the hands of a single man as long as these rights remain unabused. If such were to happen the government would, by definition, no longer be a democracy. And democracy, after all, has until now been our chief selling point. We might well ask - "Quo Vadis, Senator?"

One of the tragedies of college life is that these truly "soul-sized" affairs, as Christopher Fry has called them, so often become obscured by the excessive demands of everyday activity on the average student. I am glad to see that with your editorial pen you are doing something to establish, or more optimistically, to maintain the all-important balance between the micro - and macrocosmic aspects of student life at Middlebury.

No person can hold more than one major concessions under the rules of the committee, this rule not applying to anyone now doing so. Applications handed out by the organization will be compared with a set of recommendations received from the outgoing concession students, and the committee will then make its choice of individuals for the jobs. The deans will have final approval.

The following students have received acceptances to go abroad with the Experiment in International Living this summer: Heloise Gilmore '56, Holland; Charlotte Mugford '56, Switzerland; Beverly Watkins '56 and Allen Hawthorne '57, France. Applications for several countries will be accepted through June 1, although the groups are rapidly being filled.

Most of the Middlebury High School classes will be held in the old High School building on their resumption after spring vacation, Ralph Eaton, Superintendent of Schools, announced this week. The high school building, which suffered a fire last month, has had its roof capped and is now capable of accomodating its students. The high school will continue to use Warner Science for some of its classes.

"Three Modern Styles," an exhibition organized by the Museum of Modern Art, will open at Carr Hall on April 14, continuing through May 11. The styles presented are the Art Nouveau of the turn of the century, the angular Cubist-Geometric, and the currently popular Free Form. The exhibition includes large color reproductions of several impressionistic paintings and sculpture by Rodin and others.

The Kappa Delta pledge class requests that students donate any old or new books to the collection the group has started to replace those burned in the high school fire. Books for the high school library may be left in a box in the Student Union.

Survey Of Students Salaries Finds Midd Below Average

The Middlebury College Undergraduate Association, under the direction of John Carney '54, conducted the following survey of the average student wage rates that prevail in the various campuses throughout eastern United States. This was done in an attempt to analyze and establish a comparison with the student wage rates sent to 37 colleges and an attempt was made to select only those colleges that would be on a comparable level or standard with Middlebury. The results are as summarized in the box.

While conducting this survey, the Undergraduate Association found that Columbia University had taken a similiar poll of college student part-time employment. The Columbia survey was made on a national level and included one hundred colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Categories

Due to the complexity of the Columbia survey, the results were categorized into the following divisions: urban, non-urban, men, women, coeducational, private, and state colleges. Middlebury would fall into a double category of non-urban and coeducational. The Columbia results in these groupings are:

	Non--Urban	Co-educational
Secretaries	.75	.95
Typists	.70	.85
Office clerks	.65	.75
Library clerks	.65	.75
Average wage	.68.7	.82.5

Thus, in light of the Columbia University and Middlebury College Undergraduate Association surveys, it can be clearly seen that student wage compensation for part-time employment at Middlebury is far below the average of other colleges in the so-called small college league. The student wage scale here needs to be revised, the Association feels, immediately and brought up to a minimum of 75 cents per hour, the state and federal minimum wage as well as the average wage paid on other college campuses as shown by the surveys.

This report has been submitted to Samuel Stratton, president and Carroll Rikert, business manager and the trustees for their consideration.

The Middlebury unit of the 453rd Strategic Intelligence Research and Analysis Department, commanded by Colonel Stephen Freeman, went to Washington during spring vacation. The unit was on active duty under General Arthur Trudeau, Middlebury resident and head of Army Intelligence. Other members of the unit are Major Charles Hoag, Lieutenant Harris Thurber, Corporal Walter Welling '54, Corporal William Fay '56, and Private Philip Braun '56.

American Mystery Painting Attributed To Colonial Feke

Robert Feke was an American artist who painted from 1725 to 1750. Considered the first great American artist, he portrayed the leading men and women of Boston, New York and Philadelphia. Only about 70 of his paintings, which are quite valuable, are known to exist today, but a Middlebury student, Clifton Austin '54, thinks that he owns one.

Clif is a Fine Arts major who hopes to go into antique dealing or art gallery work after college. Having already collected various other antiques, he noticed last January in "Antiques Magazine" a little item from a dealer in Maine advertising an eighteenth century portrait of a woman. Clif sent for a photograph of the portrait, and, when he received it, he immediately wired back that he would buy the painting. He could not identify the artist, but he could tell that it was a good painting. It was Mr. Healy who suggested that it might be a Feke painting. Since then Clif and Mr. Healy have been doing considerable research to discover the artist's identity.

Cleaned and Framed

Having sent photographs to various art authorities including Boston Museum's research department, they have been receiving very favorable letters concerning the painting. The style is definitely that of Feke's, and the woman in the portrait looks very much like the one in another portrait signed by Feke. Also, the history of the painting itself has been traced to a certain wealthy family which was in Boston about 1750. If it is really a Feke, the painting will be worth 200 times what Clif paid for it. Before it is finally decided, however, the painting must be cleaned and framed.

Feke's paintings are to be found in most of the important museums, for example that at Harvard, where "Isaac Royall and Family" is displayed. Bowdoin College has the most comprehensive collection. Many are owned by private families, including the Vanderbilts.

Mysterious Character

The artist Robert Feke was a mysterious character. No one knows exactly when he was born or died, and there are no samples of his handwriting available except the signatures on his paintings. However, he did make frequent trips to Boston and Philadelphia to paint the aristocrats, and quite a bit can be learned from his paintings.

Feke is considered the connecting link between John Smibert of English origin and the American John Singleton Copley. Although influenced by Smibert at first, Feke later developed a style of his own which didn't necessarily glorify his models, as did Smibert's, but showed the people as they were. It is said that his women models "wore their double chins proudly." Also, he is noted for the delicate white hands of his women.

Among the other antiques Clif has collected is another painting, done around 1830 by Thomas Birch of the early Hudson River School. He also has a pewter plate dated 1693, which may be valuable if it turns out to be American. He is mainly interested in Pilgrim Century furniture, and has a few chairs and tables.

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

Late for your date? She hates to wait? Need something nice to soothe her? Give her a round, firm Lucky Strike—They're cleaner, fresher, smoother!

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason... enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better... always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy—Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.

Choir To Present Boston Program

An eighteen minute program of varied music will be given by the College Choir at the Boston Symphony Hall in conjunction with the Boston Pops Concert on May 19.

Under the direction of Jean Berger, assistant professor of music, the choir will feature solos by Roger Walmsley '55 and Meredith Parsons '56. The invitation to sing was extended by the Boston alumni group.

The program for the concert will include "O Sing Unto the Lord" by Hans Leo Hasler, "O Jesus Christe" by Van Berchem, "Lost in the Night," a Finnish folk song, "Alleluhia" by R. Thompson, and "Everytime I Hear the Spirit," a Negro spiritual.

The choir has also been invited to give a full evening program May 9 in Proctor.

Dissipated Eight Has TV Audition

Middlebury's Dissipated Eight was given an audition on March 30 in New York City for appearance on the Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scout Television Show, according to Peter Baldwin '55, leader of the group. Although invited to appear on the show, they were not able to accept because they would not be available to appear on other shows if they won the contest. There is a possibility of their appearing sometime next year, but their plans are not definite.

NBC is cutting a twelve-inch record from a tape which the eight singers will record tomorrow. The records will be on sale on campus by the Middle of May. They will be played on the radio station and in the Student Union.

Midd Student On Canadian Tour

James Durham '55 is one of a group of six Vermont college students who are spending a week in Canada as guests of the Province of Quebec.

The tour sponsored by the Associated Industries of Vermont, is being headed by the Very Rev. Francis E. Moriarty, SSE, president of St. Michael's College, who was invited by J. Paul Baeulieu, Province of Quebec minister of trade and commerce, to lead the group.

The students were guests at a luncheon given before their departure Monday by St. Michael's College. The party stayed at the Hotel Windsor in Montreal Monday night, leaving Tuesday for Quebec City and a stop at the Chateau Frontenac.

The group will tour Quebec City, visiting the Quebec Bridge, Montmorency Falls, The Citadel, the Provincial Museum, the Kent House, and the Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, with possible side trips to the Isle of Orleans and the National Park. After revisiting Montreal Friday, the party will return to Vermont after a tour of the city Saturday.

Other students making the trip are: Donald Atwood, St. Michael's College; Harold Feiner, Castleton Teachers College; Joseph E. Normandeau, University of Vermont; Alain J. Tessier, St. Michael's College; and Stephen Watermann, III, Norwich University.

Panther Nine Preps For Debut At AIC

From Out Of The Blue

Walter Mears '56, was recently chosen to be Sports Editor of the CAMPUS.

By A. C. Bass

With the anheuser busch ready to bloom on the shores of Lake Dunmore, the Middlebury sports world takes on a new aspect. The baseball, track, and lacrosse teams all find themselves bogged down to a rice paddy existence, while tennis has become an indoor sport and golf remains inactive. The sailing club is the only outfit around that does not feel hampered by the inordinate amount of water which seems to be everpresent. So, almost without exception, we find the weather holding back the numerous spring activities of our post-Easter wonderland.

While this soggy interim exists in our athletic picture one finds everything more or less confined to speculation on all sides. With this void present, I could find no better opportunity to introduce to you the person who will be in charge when action does start once again. To the more ardent readers of this page his name is far from unfamiliar. During the past two years his bye-line has graced many an issue and, henceforth, shall appear again just as frequently, but I dare say, far more prominently. So with out further adieu, I turn all over to Walt Mears with that oft quoted statement "Have a good year."

As long as I'm hamming most of this up anyway, I would also like to use this space to extend my thanks to the many hands that were in the sports pie with mine. There was Pete Cooney, whose quizzes still have several scrambled names hot under the collar; Warren Fuller, whose Bush League often had the same effect (although unscrambled); Art Goldberg, whose writings have carried the burden many a week; Bob Black, whose aid was invaluable; Ernie Lorch, whose late hour works were the cause of many a frequent near panic; and of course the many others, both on the newsprint and on the pictorial sides of the ledger, who made some conglomeration of sporting news possible every week.

To a few, the above is a sincere thank you. To those who know me well, it is simply a way of sharing a year's blame.

Stickmen Dump MIT 7-3 In Scrimmage At Cambridge

By Zip Rausa

With Duke Nelson handling the coaching chores the Middlebury lacrosse team is rounding into shape for the 1954 spring schedule of eight games.

In a practice game last Friday afternoon at MIT the Panthers crushed the host engineers 7 to 3, exhibiting top pre-season form. Captain Monk Ogden led the scoring parade for the day with four tallies while Mike Podell, Lefty Pierce, and George Ratte added single counters.

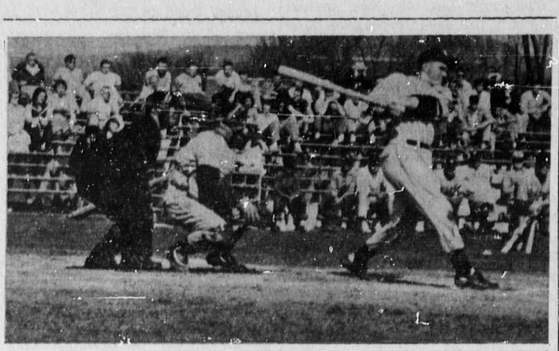
The team, largely comprised of juniors and seniors, will be more experienced than last year's squad but will seek new blood in promising freshmen and sophomores. Wayne Reilly and Roger Wilson are two yearlings who have stepped into starting positions with last year's regulars. Bob Sullivan, Captain Ogden and Riley are attackers; while Bob Gallagher, Hap Freeman, and Dave Stone, three experienced juniors, will occupy the mid-field positions. In the defensive section Clive Coutts, Marcia Garcia, Bill Admirand and freshman Wilson are slated to see action. Able substitutes are George Limbach, Bob Vuillet, Lou Kempton and Karl Brautigam. Ken Farrar, goal tender on the Soccer and Hockey teams, will take the same duty in lacrosse.

With more experience and more concentrated coaching available the team will be attempting to better last season's 3 and 5 record. The opening game will see the Panthers journey to Schenectady on Wednesday where they will meet Union. The first home encounter was the University of New Hampshire visiting for a Saturday afternoon contest.

Well Red, it looks like another season, another reason, for playing softball. By the time this goes to press the '54 season will be in full swing, with eleven teams scrambling for the coveted title. Right now, on the basis of pre season observations and interviews it looks like last year's whiz kids, the PKT's, are the team to beat. Brother Paul claims that if he can find a chucker, they'll win going away, for their team is the same one that took it last year. KDR and Chi Psi, both potential threats to any title may give the defending champs a little trouble as may the DU club. The royal Deekers are looking for a mound replacement for the ailing Gianforti who probably will retire to the gardens this year. Rumor has it that Bill Wollenberg has come up with bone chips, which would seem to indicate a fate similiar to Gianforti's, but don't count the Sig Ep fun boys out because they're always in there when it counts.

If Theta Chi and the Slugs can develop some defensive talent, they too could provide trouble to the PKT's, but probably ATO with Kemph aboard will present the stronger competition. As far as the neutrals and the faculty go, I'm stumped. They may have something this year, and they may not. It remains to be seen. However, at this writing I will have to cede them the cellar, a position they occupied last year.

That about does it on the softball for now, but next week I'll have a few scores for you to ponder over. Say, did I tell you that the DKE's won the badminton title? Yes sir, the team of Brautigam, Hufford, and Makin managed to upset PKT's pre season favorites and bring home the bacon. Individual honors went to freshman ace Bob Rice. But now that that is out of the way, the boys can devote their full attention to the old spring favorite. May the best club lose.



It won't be long now: Julie Hodges lashes out a base hit for Midd in a game played here last season. This year's baseball squad will open their season on next Monday, April 22, at Springfield, Mass., against American International College.

Track Squad To Run Sat.

After watching his Middlebury College track squad in daily workouts for some two months, Coach Arthur Brown has made tentative choices for his lineup which will face Bates, Colby, and Vermont in the Quadrangular Meet at Burlington this coming Saturday.

The dash situation looks this way. Running the 100 will be Harry Myers, Bob Webb, and Tom Hoen. The 220 will find Myers, Webb, and Ken Fitzpatrick for the Panthers. Bill Holmes, Charlie Sykes, and John Field will run the 220-yard low hurdles, while in the 120-yard highs it will be Holmes, Sykes, and Dick Wollmar.

For the middle distance races Coach Brown has Roger Chapin, Steve Evans, and Mike Wilson in the quarter mile, while Evans, Ted Schwerdtle, and Pete Redman are expected to run the half. Redman, Stan Hayward, and Chandler will compete in the mile. In the two-mile, Hayward, Brooks Dodd, and possibly Robin Hagemeyer are scheduled to run.

Going for the Panthers in the broad jump are Pete Terry, Hoen, Fitzpatrick, and Jim Boyd. The high jump will find Denny Pfeifler, Field, and Dick Westfald for Midd. John Snell, John Briggs, Pfeifler, and Field will put the shot, while Mark Benz and Ned MacDowell will throw the hammer. In the discuss, Captain Bob Kloster, John Briggs, and Snell will do the throwing. Russ Briggs, John Briggs, Pfeifler, and Evans will toss the javelin, and John Tremaine and Dick Paul will pole vault.

Middlebury, having had to practice indoors and on the road around the Field House, without even the use of a board track, will be out to at least match last year's second place finish at Lewiston, Maine when the host Bates team took top honors.

With another strong aggregation from Bates in addition to good competition from Colby and Vermont, the meet should prove to be an interesting one. Field events will begin at 1:00 p.m. and runnig contests at 1:30.

Netmen Open '54 Campaign At Williams

The 1954 edition of the Middlebury netmen is rapidly taking shape, under the able tutelage of Coach Lockwood Merriman. Coach Merriman reports that his final cut has been made, and feels that his squad will be more than ready for its opening match against the powerful William's Ephmen, at Williamstwon, on April 22.

Pacing the squad will be Captain Bob Black, a three year varsity veteran. Among the returning lettermen who are being counted on heavily are Ted Patterson, Vern Gray, Don Collier, Bob Beattie, and "Spike" Hemingway. Newcomers to the varsity squad include Dave Drexler, Dave McKissock, Bill Breed, Mal Davidson, Fyfe Dollar, and Jim MacTiernan.

The feature of this year's squad appears to be in its solid strength at every position. The competition for the top berths has been keen, and as yet no starting line-up has been picked.

During recent practice sessions, inter-squad playoffs have been held in an attempt to determine the men who will face Williams.

It appears that the singles posts for the opening match will be held down by Black, Heminway, Collier, Patterson, Gray, and Breed. Representing Midd in the doubles matches will be the combinations of Black-Meminway, Gray-Patterson, and Coller-Drexler.

The team is facing a 12 match schedule ths year, one of the largest ever. The addition of such formidable foes as Wesleyan and Dartmouth definitely puts Midd "in the big leagues." The Panthers will also be defending their state championship title against the challenges of Vermont and St. Michaels.

Poor weather conditions, which have forced the team indoors for practice, may be a factor in the team's early matches. However, Coach Merriman feels that his netmen should finish the season well over the .500 mark.

The first home match will be played against St. Michaels, April 28.

Smith Slated For Probable Starting Role

By Walt Mears

With less than a week to go before their April 26 opener at AIC, Middlebury's baseball team has run into a streak of bad luck weather wise, and several much needed practice sessions have had to be cancelled.

Plenty of depth and experience in the field has made the Sheehanmen fairly secure in that department, but the club's pitchers and catchers need more work than they have been able to get thus far, and the entire squad needs a chance to get out and sharpen up their batting eyes before the Monday curtain raiser. There was no opportunity for the team to work out outside before spring vacation, and in the week and a half since vacation rain and wet grounds have forced them off the field several times.

As things stand now, the lineup will be much the same as last year's, except Bob Ducharme has moved over to second base, while Cy Anfinson has shifted from shortstop slot which he occupied last season, to first base. Two freshmen, Zip Rausa and Rog Tirone, are contending for backstopping duties. Freshman Jim Wagner has worked well at shortstop so far this year, and will probably be covering the short field against AIC.

The probable starting pitcher for the opening contest will be Chuck Smith, a sophomore who compiled an outstanding mound record last year. Either Rausa or Tirone will be behind the plate. Junior Tom Seamans or sophomore Anfinson will handle the first base chores, and Ducharme will be at second. Bob Keating will probably be back in his third base slot, and Wagner will be at short. In the outfield, Dick Makin will be in left field, Captain Pete Cooney in center and Julie Hodges in right. Three outstanding freshman mound prospects have worked well in the practices held to date. Pete Read, Dick McDonald, and Dick Whitney, have all done well this far and show a good deal of promise for the future.

After Monday's opener against AIC at Springfield, the Panthers will return to Middlebury to open their home season against Wesleyan, and will meet Williams in their third game, during Junior Weekend.

Looney's Quiz

AHAB OCOPURRETESSYNET

This week's quiz includes all the best features of the one's which have preceded it, and only a few of the disadvantages. Instead of simply using a single name, we have included two BMOC's. Those of you who are old hands at this unscrambling game may be able to decipher the cryptic letters, but as for any novices with intentions of beginning their quiz careers this week, my advice is "Forget It!" Here we go:

We are two of the outstanding literary men on campus, and our names have appeared on this page regularly throughout the year. One of us is a two-sport man; the other is an all-sport writer. As a matter of fact, one of us rooms with an outstanding teammate of the other. Mystery man "A" may commonly be found on the ice or on the diamond; mystery man "B" generally can be located in a small "clubroom" which ocupys the nether regions of the Middlebury Inn. Both of us are fourth year men at Middlebury.

Debate Planned For May 5; Speech Contest, Next Week

Evan Andersen '54 and Ernest Lorch '54 will represent Middlebury College in the annual Middlebury-UVM debate which will be held on Wednesday, May 5 in Munroe 303. Prizes totaling $100 will be awarded to the three best speakers of the debate. Professor James, director of debate at Dartmouth College will be the judge. The contest, which was held last year at UVM, was won by Middlebury.

"United Nations, An Instrument for World Peace" is the topic of the Parker-Merrill Public Speaking Contests which will be held on Wednesday April 28 in Munroe 303 at 8:15 p.m. The Parker Contest, open only to freshmen, will award cash prizes of $30 and $20 respectively to the first and second place winners. The first four winners in the Merrill Contest, which is for sophomores, will receive $30, $25, $20, and $15 in prizes. The contests will be judged by four members of the college faculty. Those interested should sign up with Mr. Bowman, coach of debate.

During spring vacation four members of the Debating Club, Evan Andersen '54, Ernest Lorch '54, Norman Ingham '57, and Dann Sargent '57, and Mr. Bowman, made a 12-day debate trip to the South. The group participated in eight debates in a tournament at Merrimack College in which they placed fifth out of 18 colleges. While in Washington, D. C., they debated in two contests at each of three schools, University of Maryland, Georgetown University, and George Washington University. The final event on the trip was two debates at Wake Forest College, Wake Forest, N. C. The entire trip was financed by the Edwin W. Lawrence Debate Fund.

A freshmen debate team composed of Norman Ingham '57, Alice Armstrong '57, Dorothy Hiebert '57, and Sandra Nelson '57 took part in a debate tournament of four debates at Amherst College last Friday and Saturday. The speakers debated against such colleges as Dartmouth, Bennington, MIT, and Amherst on the national topic "Resolved: that the United States Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade."

Second Semester Rushing Defeated

Second semester fraternity rushing was defeated for 1954-55 by a vote of the IFC at a meeting held Monday, April 20. Two votes were recorded. The proposed plan was defeated 225 to 180 by members of fraternities, and six to three by the fraternities, themselves.

Alpha Sigma Psi, Delta Kappa Epsilon, and Phi Kappa Tau voted in favor of second semester rushing, Alpha Tau Omega, Chi Psi, Delta Upsilon, Kappa Delta Rho, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Theta Chi against.

Three rushing programs are now under consideration by the houses, a five week plan early in the first semester, a four week plan early in the first semester, and a program of delayed rushing to last three weeks from November 6 to Thanksgiving vacation. In this last plan, there would be no restriction previous to the weeks of rushing.

It was also announced at the IFC meeting that in Friday's assembly President Stratton would present the IFC Scholarship Cup to ASP, the fraternity with the highest scholastic average.

Hepburn Kitchen Repairs Finished

Repair and redecoration of the Hepburn Hall Kitchen started last August were substantially completed during spring vacation, revealed Supt. of Buildings and Grounds F. Dudley Chaffee.

Chaffee also disclosed that a contract has been let to clear away the debris remaining after the Playhouse fire. All timber and scrap metal will be removed from the site, and the foundation is to be filled with the remaining bricks and mortar. The job is scheduled to take three weeks, and there are no immediate plans concerning the Playhouse site.

Interior painting in Starr Hall, started at the beginning of the semester, was also done by a large crew of painters working in the building during recess. The work in Starr is slated to be finished before the end of the academic year. Extra painters and ground crews were on duty during the vacation, doing exterior painting around the campus.

Ground crews have been hampered by rainy weather in their attempt to get the athletic fields and golf course into playing condition. Work on the golf course has been started, the remaining seeding and top-dressing to be completed as soon as the weather permits.

Stratton Writes In "News Letter"

The need for new buildings and improvements on campus particularly a new playhouse and library is presented by Dr. Samuel Stratton, president of Middlebury College, on the "President's Page" in the April issue of the college "News Letter." He further stresses the necessity for more endowment or more annual income to provide a larger faculty with better salaries.

"Religion at Middlebury College," a general survey of the religious activities on campus, was written by Reverend Charles Scott, chaplain and instructor of religion. Several photographs of events mentioned in the article are presented also.

Margaret Dickie '56, in the "Campus Commentator," discusses the investigation of the possibilities of the joining of the Middlebury College Men's and Women's Student Governments. The editorial by the CAMPUS on this subject is also included.

Artificial Ice

it possible for students to participate in a skating program for approximately four months of the nine months of the academic year.

No Heating

In reaching the decision to proceed with the plans for the installation, the trustees first voted approval of an economic approach to the construction and operation of the rink. This approved plan states that the new rink area will not be heated, and in order to have artificial ice in the near future, such suggestions as extensive planning will have to be eliminated, and assurance placed in the cooperation of students in keeping the ice scraped.

When the rink has been constructed, two changes will have to be effected, schedules for public participation in general skating will be released, and certain revisions in the present admission ticket setup will become necessary because of the greater demand for recreational and hockey game tickets. The administration of the new rink will be directed by Carroll Rikert, business manager of the College. When completed, it will be the only artificial ice rink in the State of Vermont.

A major problem now being considered is manifested by the fact that Middlebury ice situation is distinct from that of other colleges. According to Mr. Rikert, year-around use must be made of the rink-side of the Field House. Unlike other schools, Middlebury cannot devote this section entirely to an ice rink, and, in any event, Mr. Rikert states that the area will be retained for the use of such facilities and events as the tennis courts and college banquets. This, of course, will be considered in the construction.

Other Matters

At this same meeting of the trustees of the College, a long range program of fund raising was proposed, and the possibility of purchasing the Middlebury high school gymnasium was discussed. It was decided by the trustees that the College was not presently interested in the high school property.
